Officials plan new food service, dorm

Last Thursday and Friday, the consulting architects of the State College Board, Mr. Hammel and his assistants, and the project architect, Mr. Whiteman of Jying and Whiteman Inc. of Hibbing, met with the college staff and student body representatives to draw up the preliminary programming schedule for the new food service and men's dormitory.

Members of the food service and dormitory planning committee are Darrel Mack and Ray Halden, student representatives; Deans Stewart and Jenkins; Mr. Earl Herring; Mr. Floyd Brown; Mr. Dean Barndt of the Slater food service; and various other consultants.

According to Mr. Earl Herring, a tentative program has been arrived at and the project architect has started work on the preliminary plans and sketches of the size, type, and relationship of the rooms. These plans should be ready in two weeks.

The kitchen in the new food service center will be designed to handle twice the original seating capacity. The building, with a seating capacity of 400 to 500, is designed so that when the need for additional seating capacity occurs, an additional dining room can be built. The main dining area would have two food service lines, a short order snack bar line, and would provide a divided dining area for dorm and commuter students.

Sites for the new dormitory and food service are being studied by the project architect and various plans will be submitted for review soon.

The new dormitory calls for central common facilities, such as a student lounge, recreation room offices, post office, storage areas, and the resident director's apartment, in addition to the 100 bed units.

There will be two students to a room accept for some four student suites. In the four student suites there will be sleeping, studying, and living areas.

Mistic staff members named by new editors

Major Mistic staff members have been appointed by the 1961 co-editors, Ann Frolund and Al Kvaal. These are Anna Jackson, Copy Editor; Mary Colwell and Shirley Holien, Social Editors; Bill Schultz, Sports Editor; Richard Burres, Assistant Sports Editor; and Dave Nord, Photographic Editor.

Positions are still open for cartoonists, reporters, photographers, proofreaders, rewriters and advertising personnel. Interested persons should contact Ann or Al.

Graduation applications due for spring grads

Graduating seniors are reminded by Dr. Robert Hanson, registrar, that they must file an application for graduation. This application form should be submitted to the student's adviser prior to their final quarter's registration before graduating.

After the application is approved by the adviser he will sign it and forward it to the registrar's office. The registrar will then check the application and either inform the student of deficiencies or recommend to the faculty that the student be graduated.

Diploma applications are given to the students at commencement exercises. These are to be signed by the student and turned in to the designated place. Graduates will receive their diplomas as soon as possible after the registrar's office has official verification that the student has completed all the requirements for graduation. Students have one week following the last official day of the quarter to have this verification submitted to the registrar's office. The latest date for the office to receive this verification is 5 p.m. on the fifth business day following the last official day of the quarter.

Each graduate will receive the regular diploma for no charge. For $3.75 graduates may order etched

Last in series Holbrook as Twain to entertain Mar. 11

by Kathy Groth

Since February, 1955, the slight, wiry figure of an elderly gentleman has been shuffling across the stages of the world.

The figure appears to be that of Mark Twain; actually it is a young actor named Hal Holbrook. Mr. Holbrook's presentation, "Mark Twain Tonight," began some years earlier as a brief comic interlude. It has since grown in length, richness, and depth, and is now an internationally acclaimed success.

On Saturday, March 11, at 8:15 p.m., Moorhead State College will be host to Mr. Holbrook's unusual performance, which will be held in Weld hall auditorium.

Holbrook has impersonated Mark Twain since 1953, when a nightclub act was begun. In 1956 he began national solo concert tours of "Mark Twain Tonight," and has appeared on television shows of Ed Sullivan, Steve Allen, and Jack Paar. In May, 1958, he was featured as Mark Twain on a "Wide, Wide World" telecast entitled "The Sound of Laughter," which also featured Bob Hope, Steve Allen, and Dave Garroway. His solo show, which appeared on Broadway in the spring of 1959, received the best reviews of that season, and had sold-out performances such evening.

The character Holbrook portrays has long been one of the most popular of American writers. Since Twain's death in 1910, lovers of American literature and humor the world over have kept his memory alive through wide circulation of his writings. In addition to such well-known novels as Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer, Twain also wrote travel books, autobiographical and semi-autobiographical books, and many classic short stories.

Mr. Holbrook, although not definitely committing himself before a performance as to what he will say, nonetheless makes a representative sampling of Twain's works, including the famous "Celebrated Jumping Frog" and "Buck Fanshaws' Funeral," as well as lesser-known items from Twain's novels, stories, speeches, and autobiographical writings.

MSC band begins spring tour Mar. 6

MSC's concert band, under the direction of Mr. Arthur J. Nix, will make its annual spring tour March 6. Concerts will be presented at Twin Valley, Red Lake Falls, Warren, Hallock, Greenbush, Karlstad, Climax and Crookston. The tour, which will last from March 6 to 9, has been arranged by Mr. Floyd Brown, tour manager, and is intended to promote MSC in the surrounding area.

According to Mr. Nix, the band is sacrificing four days of their winter quarter vacation break, and are paying for their own meals in order to extend the trip to four days instead of the usual three, thereby reaching two more schools and more prospective students. Accompanying the 65 piece band will be Mr. Brown and two students who will set up displays and meet with interested students at the schools.

The program has been selected by Mr. Nix, with the idea in mind of entertaining as well as educating the audiences. Says Mr. Nix, "I believe that this year's band will present a program that is varied and interesting. The quality will be good and the band will certainly show the schools and community that MSC has a great deal to offer in all the fields of education. The tour is not primarily designed to promote the music department but is first and foremost undertaken to publicize Moorhead State College and what it has to offer the future college student."

Library dedication set for May 10-13

The dedication of the Livingston Lord library will take place May 10 to 13, according to Miss Delsie Holmquist, the dean of general studies.

On Wednesday, May 10, at 8 a.m., Monsignor James P. Shannon, president of the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, will speak at the honors program in Weld auditorium to open the dedication proceedings.

Thursday's calendar will include a convocation at 4 p.m. and a clinic in the teaching of modern languages at 8 p.m.

A student convocation at 9 a.m. in Weld auditorium and coffee hours at three and five highlight the agenda for Friday. A second convocation is planned for 8 p.m.

Various exhibits will be shown Saturday, May 13, in the new library at 10 a.m. An audio-visual demonstration is planned for that noon.

Campus tours are scheduled for 10 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 5 p.m. A tea will be held from 2:30 to 5 p.m. in Livingston Lord library. A banquet beginning at 6:30 will close the dedication events.

Promises! Performance?

"Progress," "Action," and many other glittering statements were used during the recent Student Commission campaign by those who made it to M110 and by those who didn't. Campaign promises by reputation are not legitimate logic and should be disregarded.

What should be regarded by the student body in the 1961-62 SC are things such as attendance records at SC Monday night meetings; the ability of the group to handle activities as a group (such as orientation week); effective handling of meetings; and so forth. Only when these simple but necessary jobs are handled with tact, efficiency and effectiveness can these 16 people find time to look for areas where "Action" and "Progress" are necessary.

In turn the SC should closely (as closely as possible) consider the feelings of the student body on every matter which requires SC decision. Often, too often, this phase of "democratic government" is used as a crutch and someone at a SC meeting will announce that a week should be given on the matter in which the members of the governing body can go out and "take a poll," or "think about just the right person for the job."

When the SC is installed early next quarter they are taking an oath to think. It is nothing more serious or difficult than this.

Thought, not split second decisions, on the part of each and every commissioner will yield a legislative, executive judicial body worthy of this institution. Individual, independent thinking on the part of each commissioner is all that is necessary.

The age old cries that commissioners must forget that they are members of this or that organization are ridiculous. Often a good cross-section of most of the academic areas of the college as well as the social areas are represented in these organizations.

Unless members of the social and professional groups on campus are as unthinking as a group of student commissioners often are and unless student commissioners confine their conversations entirely to the members of their social organizations, a concrete poll can be taken by SC'ers merely by inquiring into the opinions of friends and acquaintances. Besides, social organization members are constituents of the commissioners also.

"Unite behind the Student Commission, student body, keep them on their toes." "This is your mouthpiece in affairs that affect you: Use it." Hackneyed, yes, but true.

If there were an iota of truth in "Watch them closely or they'll rob you blind," the Mistic would blare it all over campus if it would help create a thinking commission and student body.

Miller named to national committee on English

Dr. Joseph W. Miller, acting director of field services, has been appointed associate chairman of a special committee on the state of knowledge about composition recently established by the National Council of Teachers of English. The committee's function will be to assemble and analyze information about the teaching of writing on the elementary, high school and college levels, throughout the country.

The new committee will be made up of NCTE members selected from all over the country. First meeting will be in Washington, D. C., April 6 through 8, during the annual convention of the conference on college composition and communication, a subsidiary of the 60,000 member National council.

Dr. Miller is a member of the Executive Committee of the Minnesota Council of Teachers of English organized in April of 1960, and served as a Director of the National Council at the 50th anniversary convention in Chicago last November. In his work at Moorhead State College he serves as coordinator for off-campus courses, the college yearbook and the alumni association.

To the editor:

The question in point is: When you have paid 75 cents (dorm dues) for a cupcake, need you wait two hours to receive it? Or do you need permission from the president of WDA to receive one lousy cupcake?

After spending six laborious hours studying and necessarily missing the movie, one cupcake was requested. Did we receive it? No! "It's a matter of principle. I can't hand out the cupcakes without permission."

Studying used to be the important part of school — now it is movies. Unless you go to the movie and are unprepared for the next day — NO CUPCAKE!

Can't anything be done to abolish such stupid red tape in order to satisfy one's gastronomic needs without wasting endless hours waiting for one cupcake?

It's petty annoyances such as this that make living in the dorm "a joyous and rewarding experience!"

Names withheld on request.

In the market for a car, a prospective customer expressed surprise that the new, light makes were practically as expensive as the standard models.

The salesman bristled and replied. "If people want economy cars — they'll have to pay for them!"

Peppel leads TV course; receives 11,500 letters

by Kathy Groth

Music, lights, cameras and a voice commanding "touch your toes, stretch, two, three, four" and intent in following this command is Elaine Peppel, MSC junior from Barnsville. The setting is the WDAY-TV studio where Elaine has spent the last three weeks leading the television audience in exercises.

Elaine, a recent graduate of the Cheri Paul Charm school in Fargo, was chosen by the school to demonstrate reducing exercises, a special feature for Party Line, WDAY TV show.

These exercises, included in the posture and figure control course at the Cheri Paul Charm School, are one of the "necessary evils" in acquiring charm. So Elaine, led her TV audience in daily exercises. And quite successfully too, for over 11,500 letters were received in connection with the exercises (including requests for the exercise instruction sheet offered) hearty thank-you for the enjoyable feature and "testimonials" of the reducing effects of the exercises — some even complete with before and after pictures!

Elaine, thrilled with the TV opportunity, found many new friends in the TV audience. Perhaps her most heart warming letter came from a woman in Euclid, Minn. It read, in part...

"I have a nine year old mentally retarded daughter; she is small, about the size of a 4 year old normal child. She can't talk, but understands quite a bit. She just loves your exercises and she could do them almost as good as you, just by watching you. She sure will miss them as she seems to like them better than comics, as it was something she could do too."

The TV and exercises were not all fun and frolic for Elaine but will play a part in a research paper for one of her MSC classes, field work in recreation. Elaine, a physical education major, has also instructed a group of Dahl hall co-eds in proper diet and exercises.

"The diet is most important," comments Elaine. "The daily exercises only aid in firming the body in the right places. It takes will power, but it's worth it." A living testimonial herself, Elaine lost 20 pounds and many inches in, shall we say...just the right places.

Elaine hopes to determine through the comments from the TV program and also in evaluating her dorm class, the merits of the exercises. The evaluation, plus other physical fitness tips, charm, poise, grooming and even current events in the physical education world, all involving many hours of research, will be included in her paper.

Elaine, now a requested model, is keenly interested in charm and poise and hopes to instill these qualities in her phy ed students.

MSC cheerleader for the past three years, Elaine is currently head cheerleader. She is also a member of SNEA, pep club, Major Minor and the college choir.

Scholarship nomination deadline set for Mar. 1

High school seniors are reminded that the deadline for scholarship nominations is March 1. Winners will be announced by the fifteenth of May.

Dr. Joseph W. Miller, acting director of field services, reports that he has received about 45 nominations to date. About 25 freshman scholarships will be awarded.

Announcement of a new scholarship, the Catherine Haukebo Memorial Scholarship, has been made. The terms and qualifications for the scholarship have not been determined as of yet.

In Greek Circles O O O

by Alpha Kappa

Pat Brady of Beta Chi is quite a celebrity these days, mainly because her uncle is the mayor of Gackle, N. D.

First item on the social agenda for spring quarter will be the Gamma Nu dinner-dance. The dance will be held on March 18 at the Avenue room of the Graver hotel. Music will be provided by the Paul Cornforth orchestra. The semi-formal dance will be held from 9 to midnight and is open to the student body; admission will be $1.00 per couple.

The Owls have elected the following officers for the following year: father owl, Bob Schmidt; guardian angel, Doug Bertsch; scribe, Bill Kleenspie; treasurer, Don Conn; outer guard, Dave Olness; inner guard, Dean Schmitz; monk, Dick Menzel; and corresponding secretary, Darwin Bjerke.

Judy Berquam was elected president of Beta Chi on Tuesday, Feb. 21. Other Beta officers include: Althea Cusey, vice-president, Judy Thompson, secretary; Evie Meier, treasurer; Liane Moe, inter-sorority representative; Sue Anderson and Connie Nelson, corresponding secretaries; Pat Brady, historian, and Kathy Kuppich, social chairmen.

On Sunday, Feb. 25, in Dahl hall will sponsor a founder's day tea. A skit will be presented by the new pledges.

Beta, Jeanette deVries, as regional dairy princess, spoke at the Crookston winter shows on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Anderson announce the birth of a baby girl. Glenn graduated from MSC in 1959 and Marcia is a Gamma Nu Alumna.

As the end of the quarter is drawing near it appears due to circumstances beyond our control Alpha Kappa has completed its circle and next quarter Mary Colwell and Shirley Holien will be the Mistic social editors. I would like to thank all the organizations which have contributed news for this column; I have enjoyed writing Circles very much. One last word of wisdom: if it weren't for big wheels, little circles would never get in print.

Ten off-campus classes set

Off-campus courses will be conducted in eight towns during the spring 1961 term.

BRECKENRIDGE — Humanities 213, twentieth century American culture; 4 hours; taught by Mr. Neil Thompson. The first class meets Tuesday, March 14, at 6:30 p.m.

Basketball team to meet strong Mankato, Winona

Mankato favored in grappler tourney; Dragons to compete

The Moorhead State Dragons left Thursday on their swing south to meet two league foes in southern Minnesota. The Dragons will play the league leading Mankato State Indians Friday night and continue on to Winona for a league tilt with the Warriors on Saturday.

MSC will have all they can handle on the two game swing and will be lucky to split. Mankato has already wrapped up the title and Winona dumped St. Cloud last week to move into a tie for second. The Warriors are the most improved team in the league and have had well balanced scoring behind Jerry Goetz, Ken Stelpflug and Dick Pappenfuss.

The Dragons will be playing two seniors for the last time this weekend. Darrel Mack and Al Santwire will play their last two games of their career for the crimson and white. Mack will get the starting nod at center while Santwire will team with Norm Ophiem at guard. Jim Nagel, the team's leading scorer will start at forward along with Charlie Bertness.

Bertness has played in every game this year but has had few starting roles. He played a tremendous game against UMD last Tuesday and is one of the top competitors on the team.

Minnesotans offered $200 grant by Elks

A $200 scholarship for Minnesota residents is being offered for the coming school year by the Minnesota State Elks Association. The grant, awarded annually, was won this year by Bruce Gronbeck from Concordia.

Competition for the scholarship is open to any Minnesota resident who is now a freshman, sophomore, or junior in a Minnesota college. Applicants will be judged on citizenship, personality, leadership, scholarship, perseverance, resourcefulness, patriotism, and general worthiness and financial need. All applicants for the state scholarship, are automatically eligible for national awards totaling $100,000.

Interested persons should apply to Dr. Joseph Miller in MacLean 232 before March 1.

Mankato State, NSCC champion for the past seven years, will again be the team to beat in the Conference wrestling meet to be held at St. Cloud March 11. Winona State, who along with Mankato is rated among the top 25 teams in the nation, is also strong, losing to Mankato 15-14 earlier this year.

Moorhead State finished fifth last year behind Mankato, St. Cloud, Winona and Bemidji in order. Michigan Tech will compete for the first time this year.

The relative strength of the teams this year is indicated somewhat by comparative dual meet scores. In addition to Winona, Mankato has defeated St. Cloud 24-8, Bemidji 31-5, and Moorhead 27-3. Winona beat St. Cloud 16-13 and Moorhead 27-2.

P. E. groups attend parleys

Two groups of physical education teachers and students from MSC attended two different meetings last week.

Last Saturday, a group consisting of Miss Mary Montgomery, Miss Jessie McKellar, Karen Kopang, Barb Schultz, and Gail Nokken, attended a workshop on free exercise held at Bemidji State College. Sponsored by the Minneapolis Optimist Club, this meeting included a demonstration on teaching free exercise, using students from Bemidji State College.

On Monday, Feb. 21, another group, including Miss Montgomery, Miss McKellar, Mr. Loel Frederickson, Mr. Orlov Nokken, Mr. Kenneth Bladow, Delores Ellison, Janet Champlin, Karen Kopang, Janet Reinig, Shirley Littke, Shirley Meeker, and Gail Nokken, attended a dinner meeting at NDU, Grand Forks. Dr. Delbert Oberteuffeur, a well-known physical education expert from Ohio State University, spoke. This meeting was sponsored by NDU physical education fraternities for the benefit of p.e. students and teachers in this area, and over 200 attended.

Moorhead won over Bemidji 29-5 and St. Cloud 20-12. St. Cloud downed winless Bemidji 31-5 as did Michigan Tech 23-11. Moorhead wrestles Tech tonight.

The 115 pound class will have three good wrestlers in Mankato's Maynard Nelson, 1959 NAIA champion, Winona's Phil Choffin, and Moorhead's Banks Swan.

Dave Frame of Mankato, 1959 NAIA champion, tops the 123 pound division. Larry Willis of Winona placed third in the conference last year. Frame handed Moorhead's Earl Stottler, another 123 pound contender, his only loss 4-3.

Mankato and Winona also dominate the 130 pound class with undefeated Al DeLeon and Gary Mitch, third place winner last year. Grant Nelson of St. Cloud, 123 pound runnerup last year, will also wrestle 130.

The 137 pound class is headed by St. Cloud's John Amundson who placed third last year. Ray Haworth of Winona and Dave Frank of Bemidji are good 147 pounders.

Conference runnerup last year, Bemidji's Noel Mailey tops the 157 pound division, and Mankato's Jerry Slattery, loser to last year's NSAA champion 5-3 in the quarter finals, is a highly-regarded 167 pounder.

In the heavyweight division the two leading contenders are Jerry Wedemier of Winona and Leon Christ of Mankato. Wedemier, 1959 NAIA champion and runnerup last year, defeated Christ 8-6 earlier this year.

Moorhead wrestlers expected to compete, with dual meet records in parenthesis, are Swan (6-2-1), Stottler (11-1-1), Larry Elfering (4-1), Ken Straus (5-5-2), Don Pate (6-2), Arlan Mueller (4-7-2), Bo Henry (7-6), Russ Davis (8-4-1), and Mike Rand (4-3-2).

The NAIA tournament will be held March 17 and 18 at Golden, Colo.

Michigan Tech tips MSC 69-65

In Northern State College Conference play last week, Michigan Tech tipped Moorhead State 69-65 to drop the Dragons to fourth place in the conference, behind St. Cloud, Winona and Mankato. The Indians have a tie for first place cinched and could win it outright with a win over MSC Friday.

The Tech Huskies outthrustled the Dragons and beat MSC in field goal percentages to tell the story in the Dragon loss. Jim Nagel tallied 24 points for MSC but it wasn't enough to put the Dragons over the top.

The game was close throughout the entire contest, and with the game all tied up the Dragons blew a fast break effort to give the ball to the Huskies, who scored to put them in front 67-65. An intentional foul by the Dragons to gain possession of the ball with time run out on the clock added two points to leave the margin 69-65.
